Fashion Show Will Benefit Yale-New Haven Children's Hospital

Caroline's Gift: A Spring Fashion Show for the benefit of the Newborn Special Care Unit at Yale-New Haven Children's Hospital will be held on Friday March 20 at 6:00 p.m. at the Omni New Haven Hotel at Yale, 155 Temple Street. The event is in memory of Caroline, the daughter of Gary Doyens and Jocelyn Maminta, the former News Channel 8 morning news anchor. Caroline was born at Yale-New Haven Children's Hospital and cared for in the Newborn Special Care Unit. Models for the fashion show will include graduates of the Newborn Special Care Unit and Yale-New Haven Children's Hospital, ranging in ages from 4 years to 34 years, as well as professional models.

Jocelyn Maminta is chairperson of the event, which in addition to the fashion show will include a dinner and auction. Honorary chair-person is Patricia Rowland, First Lady of Connecticut, Keith Kountz and Sally Ann Mosely of News Channel 8 will serve as masters of ceremony and Bruce Barber of WPLR's Smith and Barber Show will conduct the auction.

The evening is sponsored by Filene's, Connecticut Magazine, and the Friends of the Children's Hospital. Ticket are $55. For information, call (203) 785-6935.
